Being productive, not provocative

Words can make/mold or mar a relationship. We become actually what we speak. The old adage of, "Tell me your friend and I will tell you who you are" could easily be altered as, "Speak few words to me and I will tell you who you are". Such a powerful tool we have in our hands, to bring good news and glad tidings to others.

Unfortunately, either we shun our words when we need to speak, but flatter many words when and where they are not needed at all, or we recourse to some words to provoke others and as a result ruin the warmth in our relationship. But the WORD that is given to us is powerful and allowing it to grow in us will produce plentiful harvest. Hence, all our human words are to be coated into the Divine Word.

Jesus wove words into parables – meant to be comparisons, allegories, riddles, paradoxes, proverbs or symbols – so that simple and ordinary folks could ponder, perceive and produce hundredfold. Let us weave good relationships and extend the horizon of our fellowship with others by uttering loving, caring and productive words. How many words we speak – that's immaterial; rather how many hearts we touch by our words is something that really matters.

Fr. Amal

It's The Things On The Inside That Matter

Shopping for a good watermelon is difficult because no matter how good it looks on the outside, it's hard to tell what it's really like on the inside. We can tap it, thump it and squeeze it, only to take it home and discover that the inside is not edible.

On one occasion when Jesus' disciples did not wash their hands before eating, the Pharisees became extremely irritated because it violated one of their man-made traditions (Mark 7:1-8). Jesus immediately challenged them by saying:

“All too well you reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your tradition” (Mark 7:9).

He went so far as to call them “hypocrites” (Mark 7:6) and explained that what comes from the inside of an individual is what “defiles” him, not the other way around (Mark 7:14-23).

If we're not careful, we can become so absorbed with looking good on the outside, that we forget what really counts. In fact, when we get to the place where we think “we've arrived,” we may become proud of ourselves and judgmental toward others.

Harboring bitterness, clinging to critical attitudes, and thinking too highly of ourselves are the kind of defiling things that make us guilty of Jesus' charge of being a “hypocrite.”

The point is this: It's the things on the inside of our heart — our thoughts and attitudes that really matter to the Lord (cf. 2 Corinthians 10:5; John 4:23-24).
