A costly deal

Jesus' triple parabolic presentation of God's kingdom describes its core nature, namely standing far more superior and majestic than anything in the world and to attain the goal it demands a huge price of commitment and dedication. One must give up everything, and everyone! While Jesus stresses that discipleship entails great sacrifice, he also implies that such sacrifice must engender profound happiness.

While God's calling and choosing is a matter of grace, the 'chosen' ones have the responsibility of responding radically. And for the generous one, no price is too high for serving God. The overpowering joy of discovering something beautiful, the kingdom, would drive us crazy(!) and embolden us to commit to the task diligently and whole-heartedly, holding back nothing.

Accepting God's invitation without counting the cost certainly entails courage and determination; and it is not without any reward. The blessing of being counted among the blessed ones in the royal banquet of his kingdom awaits us and the foretaste of it comes to us in the form of spiritual blessings that He continues to bestow upon us.

SAINT IGNATIUS July 31

Saint Ignatius of Loyola (1491-1556) gave the Church a great gift—the Spiritual Exercises. The Daily Examen is an important part of the Spiritual Exercises. When we pray the Daily Examen, we reflect on the events of the day so that we can discover God's presence and discern his will for us. The following steps are a version of the Daily Examen that we can use in our personal prayer.

1. Become aware of God's presence. Take a moment to reflect on all the blessings you have received from God throughout the day. Ask yourself, "How did God reveal himself to me in the events I experienced and the people I met?"

2. Review the day with gratitude. Take a moment to thank God for the joys and delights you have experienced throughout the day. Ask yourself, "What joys have I experienced in my interactions with others? What sights, sounds, and smells have filled me with delight?"

3. Pay attention to your emotions. Reflect on the feelings you have experienced throughout the day. Ask yourself, "Have any of my emotions drawn me closer to God or led me away from him? What might God be telling me?"

4. Choose one feature of the day and pray with it. Ask the Holy Spirit to help you identify something from your day that seems especially important. It may be a feeling, an encounter, or a recurring thought you've had. Spend a moment reflecting on the experience and pray a prayer from your heart.

5. Look toward tomorrow. Ask God for the grace to help you remain faithful to the call of discipleship. Then ask him to open your mind and heart so that you can continue to discover his presence in your everyday experience. By praying this version of the Daily Examen, you can become more aware of God's action in your life so that you can find God in all things. LoyolaPres

Silence! God is here!

Give yourself enough time to get to church without becoming stressed. "I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord" (Ps 121:1). In our culture, it has become increasingly difficult to recollect oneself, to pass from the noisy rush of life into the "adoring silence" that a worthy celebration of Mass requires. Adé Béthune, a lover of the Sacred Liturgy and noted designer of churches, recommended the creation of spaces of transition. One should not have to pass abruptly from the parking lot into the church. Some parishes may want to create a "garden of silence" between the parking lot and the door of the church. Others will make the most of the narthex, porch, or vestibule of the church: the space between the church's inner and outer doors. When you arrive at the door of your church, stop to take Holy Water with your right hand. Make the sign of the cross. Cross the threshold of the House of God deliberately and reverently.

If the Blessed Sacrament is reserved in the sanctuary of the church, genuflect, bringing your right knee to the ground in an act of adoration. If the Blessed Sacrament is not reserved where you can see it, bow profoundly before the altar. Use the moments that remain to ready your heart for Holy Mass. Greet the Mother of God, the angels, and the saints represented in your church's holy images.

In a Roman basilica visited by hundreds of pilgrims each day is a sign that says, "Silence! God is here." The recovery of silence in church is the first step in fostering the "Eucharistic amazement" to which the Servant of God Pope John Paul II called the Church of the New Millennium.

The Roman Missal

If we reflect we shall see that the soul of the just man is but a paradise, in which, God tells us, He takes His delight. What, do you imagine, must that dwelling be in which a King so mighty, so wise, and so pure, containing in Himself all good, can delight to rest? Nothing can be compared to the great beauty and capabilities of a soul; however keen our intellects may be, they are as unable to comprehend them as to comprehend God, for, as He has told us, He created us in His own image and likeness.
